Current account

In November 2016, a negative balance of Euro 50.4 million in the current account, is due to the deficit in the trade of goods (Euro 161.4 million) and the primary income (Euro 29.6 million), which are mostly netted with the surpluses in the secondary income and the trade of services (Euro 125.9 and 14.7 million, respectively).

¹ The balance of payments is a statistical report that systematically summarizes all international economic transactions of the Republic of Macedonia within a certain time frame, i.e. it summarizes the current, capital and financial transactions between residents and non-residents.

National Bank of the Republic of Macedonia Statistics Department

Compared to the previous month, the current account deficit is higher by Euro 47.7 million, amid higher net outflows in trade of goods (by Euro 22.7 million) and lower net inflows in trade of services and secondary income (by Euro 15.6 million and Euro 10.8 million, respectively).

On a cumulative basis, for the period January-November 2016, the current account deficit was Euro 185.9 million, which is by Euro 72.2 million more compared to the same period in 2015. Thereby, the higher deficits in primary income and in the trade of services (by Euro 68.4 million and Euro 35.2 million, respectively), as well as the lower surplus of the secondary income (by Euro 6.5 million), were only partially compensated with the improved developments in the trade in services (higher surplus by Euro 37.9 million).

In November, regarding liabilities on the basis of direct investments² was recorded an increase of Euro 45.5 million, mainly on the basis of reinvested earnings (Euro 26.2 million) and debt instruments (Euro 17.4 million), and to a lesser extent through investments in equity (Euro 2 million). Cumulatively, the liabilities to the direct investors for the eleven months of 2016 increased by Euro 456.4 million, which exceeds the amount for the same period in the previous year by Euro 151.1 million (or 49.5%).

As for assets from direct investments, in November we record a net outflow of Euro 13 million, amid growth of claims through debt instruments (Euro 26.5 million), and decrease of the claims of equity (Euro 14.5 million). Cumulatively, assets from direct investments increased by Euro 248.3 million (which is by Euro 113.2 million more compared to the same period in 2015).

Net outflows based on loans in the amount of Euro 114.6 million, in November this year, were mainly due to the decrease of net liabilities of the government and depository institutions (by euro 128.8 million and Euro 17.9 million, respectively) compared to the growth of net liabilities in other sectors³ (by Euro 14.2 million). The Central Bank, through the repo and reverse repo transactions, conducted a larger reduction of the claims in relation to the liabilities (by Euro 17.9 million).

In the period January-November 2016, the financial transactions with non-residents recorded net inflows of portfolio investments, direct investments, trade credits and loans that exceed net outflows in currencies and deposits. Higher net inflows enabled financing the current account deficit (Euro 185.9 million) and ensured additional growth in foreign reserves by Euro 272.7 million.
